PANTAGES WEEPS AS CHILDREN VISIT HIM IN JAIL

APPEAL WILL BE ASKED IN CASE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—(UP)—Alexander Pantages, whose face never mirrored any emotion thru four long weeks of trial or in the racking moments when a jury ordered him to San Quentin state penitentiary on a charge of attacking 17-year old Eunice Pringle, wept today as his children visited him in the county jail.

"They found him garbed in a prisoner's blue denim uniform, no longer the nattily garbed theater veteran, but merely 'Los Angeles County 119-251, tank 10-B-1'."

The multimillionaire had just been fingerprinted and "mugged" for the rogues' gallery when his daughter, Carmen, and his sons, Rodney and Lloyd, entered the conference room.

Family Hit Twice

They showed the sorrow of two convictions within two months—their father for statutory assault, and their mother, Mrs. Lois Pantages, for manslaughter in the death of Juro Rokamoto, whose automobile was struck by hers.

Pantages sat on one side of a long table and his children on the other as required. What passed between them is not known, but the faces of all were stained when the interview ended.

ANALYSIS OF EXPENSE OF COUNTY MADE BY TAX GROUP

The Contra Costa committee of the California Taxpayers' association has made an analysis of the County expenditures to Sept. 30, these figures having just been made available.

Expenditures

The total County Budget for the year is $4,987,347; to date there has been spent for all purposes, including education, $30,410. This is approximately 23 per cent of the total planned for the whole year; only 25 per cent of the year has elapsed. Expenditures in general are, therefore, being kept within budget allowances.

Unusual Expenditures

Some of the more unusual expenditures so far are:

For trucks and autos, $5,834.50.

For road machinery, $9,092.00.

For rights of way for roads in Supervisorial District No. 1, $6,924.00.

For capital outlay, mostly contract work, on roads in Supervisorial District No. 4, $10,516.76.

There has been expended this fiscal year to date $11,953.40 on Memorial buildings at Bay Point and $8,840.00 on Memorial buildings at Concord, a total of $21,793.40 spent last fiscal period for land purchased and building construction on these memorials. The total spent to date, therefore, is $32,602.75.

Road Maintenance

Expenses for maintenance of roads have been somewhat heavy in anticipation of the winter rains. These expenditures to Sept. 30 compare as follows:

Supervisorial District No. 1, $15,581.00.

Supervisorial District No. 2, $47,344.11.

Supervisorial District No. 3, $26,049.96.

Supervisorial District No. 4, $5,918.02.

Supervisorial District No. 5, $43,573.04.

It is anticipated that expenditures in October for this purpose will be quite large also.

SPAN SOUGHT FOR THIS AREA

The opportunity of getting the new trans-bay bridge, a commission for which was recently appointed by President Herbert Hoover, in a location so that it will serve the greatest number of business residents, was brought to the attention of the city council last night from a Berkeley chamber of commerce official and a member of the council of that city.

Hollis Thompson, managing director of the Berkeley chamber of commerce, was introduced to the council by E. B. Bull of the Richmond Real Estate board, and went into his subject very thoroughly.

At the conclusion of his talk the question was referred to the city manager, city attorney and city engineer to investigate and make a report.

Study Removal Of Fish Cannery Waste

The possible pollution of the waters of the bay, so that it cannot be used for the municipal bath in house, is the only obstacle that has come up in connection with the city council giving its consent to the Parr Terminal corporation to leasing a portion of the city property to Joseph Crivello for a fish cannery.

At the request of city manager J. A. McVittie at the city council meeting last night, the adoption of the "consent ordinance" was laid over for a week, as he wished to make further investigations as to the flow and ebb of the tide at the outer wharf.

During the week McVittie will place floats near the outer wharf. These will be watched, and it is his belief that as the tides run strong at that point, that no pollution will take place. In company with city engineer Hoffman, the city manager made trips to Pittsburg and Monterey during the past week, and made an investigation of the fish canneries located in those two cities. At Monterey there are 14 fish canneries, and old style machinery is used, with the result that there is considerable odor.

At Pittsburg, the latest type of machinery is installed and there is no odor in that city at all.

It is the belief of the city manager by getting permission from the Richmond Oil company to run a sewer from the cannery under the wharf of the oil company, carrying it two hundred feet out in the bay, and 25 feet under the water, that this method will solve the possible trouble from the by-product from the cannery.

By placing sewer in this manner, its outlet would be 800 feet from the intake pipe which leads to the bathhouse.

50 MILE GALE FANS FIRE IN HILLS

One of the most spectacular fires seen in Alameda county in recent years, fanned by a 50-mile wind, raged along a five mile front yesterday, destroyed the employe's building of the Sequoyah Country club, menaced the club proper, and swept into the fairway, where it was checked.

The fire, which extended from Thirty-fifth avenue to the San Leandro line at 107th avenue, was finally brought under control thru the efforts of 200 firemen, 45 members of the street department, and hundreds of citizens who volunteered their services.

The first fire in East Oakland vicinity, was registered in the yards of the Realty syndicate at Thirty-fifth avenue. From there, burning embers were carried to the estate of John F. Carlson, president of the Central Bank of Oakland.

From Carlson's estate, blazing branches were carried by the wind to Leona Heights, over 20 blocks away. It was from the Heights that the fire was ultimately carried to the Sequoyah club grounds. All firemen of the eastbay section were called out for duty as (Continued on Page 8)

HOLMES AGAIN IN RUM NET

Martin Holmes of the Regal apartments, Barrett avenue and Twenty-third street, pleaded guilty yesterday to illegal possession of liquor and will be sentenced today by Police Judge C. A. Odell.

Holmes was arrested Sunday by police who reported they found a small quantity of liquor in his possession.

Previous to his last arrest, Holmes was fined $400 on Oct. 16 by Judge Odell. On this occasion Holmes was alleged to have a considerable quantity of liquor in his apartment, which at first he asserted belonged to a former tenant. Later however, he changed his plea to guilty and the fine was assessed.

3 KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

COTTAGE GROVE, Ore., Oct. 28.—UP.—Three persons were killed late Monday when a plane piloted by Lieut. Beverly Clark, president of the Shields-Carl flying service, crashed and burned 12 miles south of Eugene.

The dead:

Lieut. Beverly Clark, Portland.

Capt. Frank O. Mercer of the Aerial Mapping Engineers, Portland.

Eldyth Rose, 20, co-pilot, Portland.

The three bodies, burned almost beyond recognition, were removed from the wreckage by Deputy Coroner K. K. Mills of Cottage Grove. The bodies were brought here to await investigation of the crash.

The accident was reported to Cottage Grove authorities by A. B. Wolford, a farmer, on whose farm the plane crashed.

EL CERRITO TO STUDY LIGHTS FOR SAN PABLO

Discussion of the lighting system on San Pablo avenue brought before the council by Light Commissioner Peter Larsen who recommended that City Engineer Ross L. Calfee be instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the installation of the C. H. Brown standards with General Electric lights and units took up the greater part of the meeting of the council of El Cerrito Monday night, and was finally laid over for one week.

In order that all of the councilmen may have an opportunity to inspect the different types of lights and units City Clerk Alice Morris was instructed to write the electrical companies asking that they erect standards on San Pablo avenue and Manila avenue sometime before Monday for comparison by the council.

Councilman Phil A. Lee stated that electrical companies had rep-

BILLIONS LOST IN NEW BREAK ON NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—UP.—All of the wealth of New York banks was unable to check another tremendous wave of liquidation on the Stock Exchange.

Values were pared down $10,000,000,000 or more in the worst break in history.

The Dow Jones industrial average broke 35.33 points and the railroad average 10.91 points, the largest break in history. Sales totaled 9,212,890 shares, the second largest day in history in point of volume.

Organized Bear raids were directed against the "Blue Chips" and these high class stocks broke from 10 to 50 points in pell-mell unloading.

Early Break

From the opening until the closing gong stopped the trading the prices were below Saturday's prices. For a brief interval around 1:30 support developed, but it was short lived. Bankers could not take all the stock offered. They abandoned the attempts, permitting prices to seek their own levels, which were only downward. The majority closed on the lows of the day.

The break was orderly during the morning. Six common stocks under 200, but kept above last week's low of 192 1/2. General Electric was forced down sharply and so were such shares as Westinghouse Electric and a long list of utilities.

Suddenly the Bears managed to force an opening the Steel Armor. The stock wavered and then fell, touching 22.

At that time Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City bank, hurried out of his office on Wall street and went to the office of J. P. Morgan and (Continued on Page 8)

Water Supply Fails At Sunshine Camp

MARTINEZ, Oct. 28.—A water famine at the Sunshine camp was narrowly averted Saturday when the camp well went dry, and it was necessary to rush water trucks used by the county highway department to the camp.

Since the well was drilled by the Shell Oil company years ago, it has been a steady producer of cold clear water until the catastrophe last week.

Water is now being pumped from a well on the Dutra ranch, which is soon to become the camp's property, and carried to the storage tanks at the Sunshine camp.

Dr. I. O. Church, county health officer, went out to the camp today to chlorinate the water to prevent possible contamination.

25 ACRES OF BRUSH BURNS

More than 25 acres of brush and timber land on the Arlington estate south of the Berkeley country club were destroyed by fire early last night. After more than an hour's battle, the El Cerrito and Kensington fire department finally extinguished the blaze.

The fire is believed to have been started by a careless smoker who threw a lighted cigarette out of his car into the high grass, according to Fire Chief Arthur Byrd.

Damage to the property was slight.

New Outlet Sewer Approved

The proposed building of a new outlet sewer for the Stego Sanitary district which takes in El Cerrito, a part of Richmond and a part of the county, came up at the meeting of the city council last night.

City attorney T. M. Carlson was instructed to prepare a request to the supervisors asking that body to proceed with the work as requested by the sanitary board, and that the city of Richmond gives its consent to the work.

More Power to the Rebels!

WHEN The Evening World recently conducted a fashion contest with prizes for the best letters about the short skirt and the long one, sixty-two per cent. of the hundreds of contestants opposed skirt-lengthening. Signs are not lacking to show that the rebellion against extreme new styles goes on apace.

Fannie Hurst, distinguished novelist, urges women to organize quickly and reject fashion's attempt to interfere with the new freedom of body and movement, the freedom which clothes of recent years have bestowed on the female sex. "In the last seven years," the author of "Five and Ten" and "Lumoux" points out, "we have shorn our heads, released our legs from the thralldom of limbs, uncorseted our torsos, and these things have had an effect on us in other ways. We have had years of body emancipation that co-ordinates well with mental emancipation."

"Now industry, with a quirk of its hand, reaches out and attempts to put us back. The leg is becoming nasty again, with its long silken coverings of skirts. It is no longer a means of locomotion. We are pulling in our waistlines. If we have them. We are going right back to where we started from. I hope that the women of this country will not stand for it." Miss Hurst ends her ringing note of protest.

THE protest is echoed by Miss Edna Mullen who writes to a New York paper: "The long skirts are atrocious. They make women look so dowdy and ordinary. The few inches that the women have added to their dresses have added ten to fifteen years to their age."

Women who looked thirty-five in short skirts look ever so much older in the longer ones.

"Why is it that some women will sacrifice appearance and comfort just to be what they call 'in style'? Short skirts are smart and comfortable; they make women look young and classy. Let's keep them!"

Still another clarion call to rebellion announces that a committee has been formed to combat with "propaganda and persuasion" the new light-fitting styles, with long skirts, a "a regrettable throwback to the days when a woman to be stylish had to be uncomfortable."

HERE'S hoping for success to any movement making for more individuality in woman's dress. What we'd like to see is self-determination in skirts—a length to suit each wearer on each occasion. It seems inconceivable that sports dress, or the clothes which busy women wear down town, should ever go back to clumsy long skirts and uncomfortable corseted waists. How can women want to work or play hindered by such impediments. After they have known the comfort of unhampered legs and lungs?

If, on the other hand, older women want to wear longer skirts because they are warmer, or because—frankly—the conservatives prefer to cover their legs, so be it. If girls want to dress for dances and other formal parties in the new models, which as somebody has pointed out, look like fancy dress to our unaccustomed eyes—why stoppings? Having to learn to dance in a dress touching the floor, and with a train into the bargain, may seem an unnecessary chore to some of us, but, if the youngsters get a kick out of the novelty, that's their business.

It is the mandatory, no-exceptions-note move to drop ALL skirts to the stumbling point, to pinch ALL waists with the resurrected corset, which we think modern women must resist. If they so-called "independence" and "freedom" are to be anything but idle words. Why in heaven's name should those of us with real jobs to do, or real times to play, give up wearing the clothes which we have found most comfortable and convenient, because of that arbitrary phrase, "they're not being worn?"

To judge by downtown streets and offices and the transportation routes leading there, "they" ARE being worn, and "they" WILL BE worn in the future—if enough girls and women have enough courage and common sense!

THE NEW SILHOUETTE

Now pull yourself together, tighten up your stays. For a woman in harness, like the olden days.

Just resurrect your corsets, emphasize your shape.

Cabbage properly cooked and attractively served is rightly called a good dish. Rich in vitamins A, B and C, this leafy vegetable, generally low in price and excellent in quality, is enjoying a period of popularity.

Time was when socially aspiring folks never mentioned the word cabbage, let alone served it, or the other two vulgar vegetables, onions and turnips, at their table. Nowadays cabbage is eaten for health's sake.

Deliciously nutritious, it is of course, more interesting in its vital vitamins than its possible vulgarity.

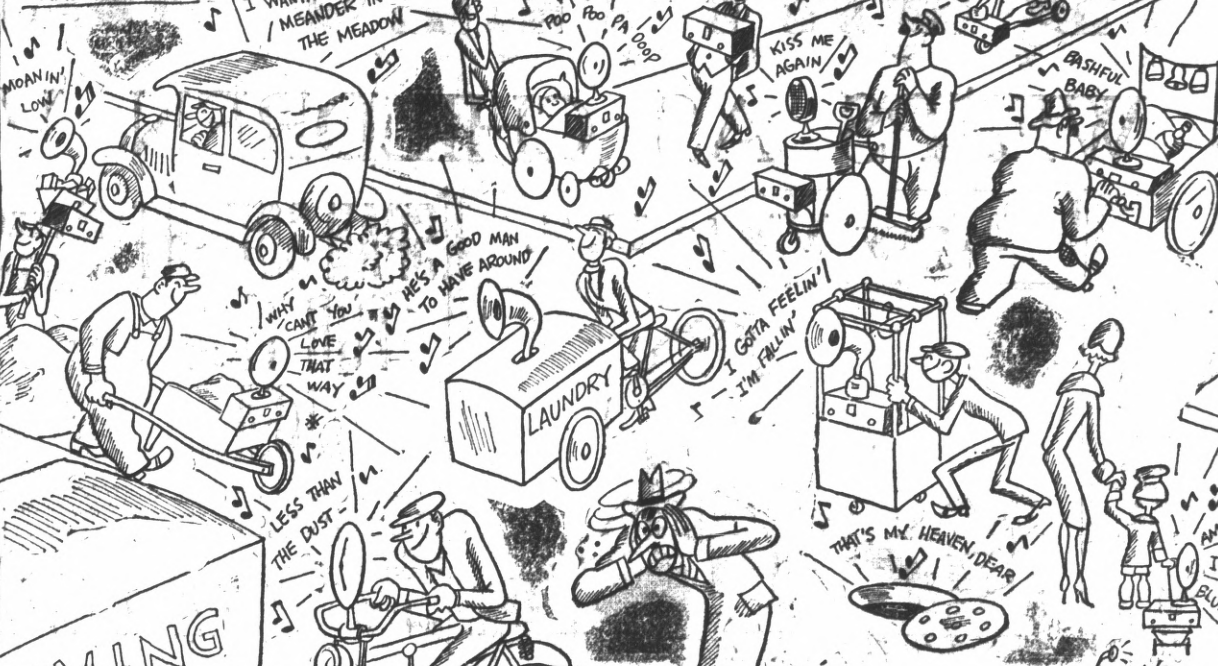

White, purple and dark green Savoy cabbage are plentiful at the moment. The white or the Savoy suggest serving sweet and sour.

CHARLESTOWN CABBAGE Two-pound head cabbage. Boiling salted water to cover. Dressing: One egg. One cup rich milk or cream. Four tablespoons oil or butter. Four tablespoons mild vinegar. Two tablespoons sugar. One onion, minced. Quarter teaspoon paprika. Cooking time: Ten to 20 minutes. The dressing makes Charlestown cabbage a different dish. The blending

Mrs. Longworth Retains Place in Capital Social War by Staying Out of Town During Receptions to MacDonald

WASHINGTON, D. C.

The social armistice in Washington during the Hoover-MacDonald world peace overtures did not contemplate any permanent renunciation of war by Mrs. Alice Roosevelt Longworth.

Mrs. Longworth's acknowledged tendency to mischievousness was overcome by her familiarity with the proprieties during the entertainment of the British Prime Minister. She stayed away from Washington just long enough to avoid being invited to the White House or Embassy dinners, arriving here at 9:30 o'clock the night of the Hoover's big party.

The speaker's wife did not wish to cause a ruckus to mar the MacDonald visit. She refused to be a party to the social compromises arranged by Sir George Howard, the British Ambassador, and Secretary of State Stimson. Without saying a word she reserved all her rights for "parity" with a little bit of wit.

Washington bows that Mrs. Longworth, who was the center of her admiring clique when she dropped in to the British Embassy reception, was expected to propose to carry on in her feud with the Vice President's sister.

Determination to pursue the battle will invite and involve the presence of Washington hostesses who are becoming sick unto death of the whole silly business.

It is the Longworth contention that the Speaker of the House ranks even the Vice President. Aside from that most point there is no doubt in the fact that Mrs. Longworth, whose studied informality and unconventionality are well established, should be the one to continue a struggle over noblesse oblige and diplomatic niceties which every one else would like to drop.

Mrs. Longworth served beef and cabbage at a formal dinner in honor of the President and Mrs. Coolidge.

POLITICS HOBBY WITH CUTTING There is no occasion for the hullabaloo about a Senator from New Mexico leading a Senate fight against Customs Bureau or Post Office clerks censoring the literary or art importations of the American people.

The sensation seems to arise from the fact that a Senator from New Mexico is supposed to be a cowboy or an Albert B. Fall instead of a dilettante, who speaks with a Harvard accent, wears clothes made by Fifth Avenue tailors, and is in politics as a career because he is rich enough to indulge a hobby.

Senator Bronson Murray Cutting is in the Senate from New Mexico in violation of all the supposed rules of politics in the Sunshine State. The most important of which has been held to be: "To gain eminence in New Mexican politics you must have stolen a horse or shot a man."

Senator Cutting is from New Mexico merely because he went out there in 1910 for reasons of personal health. He is a native of Oakdale, L. I., and is only forty-one years old. His father was William Bayard Cutting and his mother, Olivia Peyton Murray. He was commissioned a Captain in 1917 and served as an assistant military attaché at the American Embassy in London.

He has made considerable money since going to New Mexico. His New York clubs are the Knickerbocker, the Union and the Harvard.

There have been no future over the fact that a "gentleman from Santa Fe" initiated the fight for literary freedom of the Port of New York. Not if you know Senator Cutting.

Dr. Harvey Wiley will celebrate his fifty-fifth birthday on Friday of this week. An looking back over a busy and contented career he views no honor as comparable with that of "Father of the Pure Food Law."

Turkish Humor

Now that the Turks are writing their newspapers in the Latin alphabet, the language becomes a little more accessible to Westerners, who were formerly baffled by the insuperable difficulties that the Arabic script involved. And so one of the new students of the Turkish language deciphered the following story from one of the Constantinople papers, as a first achievement in his undertaking to master the tongue of the Ottoman. It appears that Kemal Pasha recently issued a ukase that restaurants must charge what they call a "prix fixe" in Paris. This order seems to have been popular, but it also has its disadvantages.

A Turkish gentleman, of the tongue of all's grand unch, entered a restaurant and asked the head waiter if the new regulation was in force. He was told that a price would be fixed before the customer started eating. That seems to be the way Turks interpret the idea of "prix fixe." It is a little different from the custom in France. But anyway, after surveying the customer for a while, the chef said: "Your price will be three pounds" (about $15.00). "All right," said the guest. He started with soup. Then ordered chicken. Thereafter (they have a strange rotation of courses in Turkey) he ordered some oysters. Two dozen went down glibly. A little roast beef went next. The waiter began to look on nervously. And that individual became downright scared when a nice platter of duck went the way of his predecessors. The proprietor came in to give the eater the once-over, just at the moment when he ordered a lamb chop with macaroni. The combinations in Turkey seem to be even stranger than the rotation. Proprietor and waiter took counsel together. "I'll give him some water," said the latter, that fills up." But as he brought the calmly masticating Turk a jug of water, the customer looked up, smilingly enough, and remarked: "No, thanks, I never start drinking till I am at least 'half-way through'!"

Happy Refuge Who is responsible for the notion that Greek monks and clerics are a hopelessly ignorant and backward lot? The monks themselves to a certain extent, and the long hair they affect has perhaps something to do with the idea that seems pretty general throughout the world. How pleasant was my surprise when I came into contact with a dozen Greek monks at once. This was how:

A bustling horde of guides was hanging on my heels the moment I stepped out of the train. I walked through the old city of Jerusalem. No Europeans were about, and some of my unworldly companions, whose faces alone might serve as models to illustrate a story of Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves, began to act ugly. As the British authorities insist that no man shall be armed, the situation might have become hazardous. The crowd was just about beginning to jostle when we arrived in the little square in front of the Holy Sepulchre Church. To my dismay I found the doors of the church closed. The Arab Boogymen had a good laugh at my expense. And they redoubled their elbowing and jostling. Then I saw the open door of the Convent of Abraham, and the door stood ajar. A giant of a monk, with a beard of Orthodoxy Church, out of pure gratitude.

Buddhists Are Cheeked Henceforth no public subscriptions may be solicited by Buddhist priests on the plea that the money is needed for the purchase of offerings for their divinities. This reads an order by the Municipal Government in Peking.

Another order says that hereafter monks and priests will not be allowed to attend the sick. Many of the monks and priests in the city and in other cities of China claim the power to cure the sick by means of incantations. The superstitious pay large sums for these promised cures and the authorities have decided that the ignorant are not to be imposed upon longer. It was the intention of the officials to forbid the monks to hold services for the dead, but this idea has been abandoned for the present.

The monks may still accept orders for services for the departed, but they must confine themselves to a recitation of the Buddhist classics and omit their usual musical program.

For the Charity Bazaar BAZAAR committees are hunting for novel booth decorations and booth suggestions.

An orchard in a corner, or a separate room, may prove a novelty. The floor should be covered with gravel, sand and occasional patches of green (paper) moss to simulate a field. The orchard may be surrounded with a low stone wall. This wall can readily be made with crepe paper that comes for the purpose. The attendants in the orchard should be attired in overalls.

The farmers' costumes are quite attractive. The variety of trees may be as numerous as you desire to make them. A trip into the country or woods will enable you to secure small dead trees that will do nicely. Leaves of crepe paper can be attached to the branches or just a few leaves and moss will be very effective.

The apple tree might be decorated with real apples polished to gladden, or they can be made of crepe paper and contain small souvenirs. The pear tree might be in the form of a joke. Hang every article in pairs on "this tree. For instance, a salt and pepper shaker, two ash receivers, scissors. A search in the novelty shops will reveal many suitable small articles.

A slender tree will do nicely for the lemon tree. The fruit can be made of crepe paper or sandy boxes

The Beauty Shop

Dance, Little Lady

WE know a dancer aged thirty, and one aged forty-two, and another we know who never again can celebrate her fiftieth birthday. They are as different, these three, as if they had been born and bred at three different points of the compass.

One is Italian and the third is Japanese. But three things these stranger goddesses have in common: Grace, symmetry and a something else even rarer and lovelier—jole de vivre.

Dancing, it seems to the Beauty Shop, is the exercise supreme. For it brings into play the muscles of the body, and it brings them into rhythmic play. And that induces freedom and joy.

Even fox-trotting, imperfect as it is, is good exercise. For the brain-worker it affords, besides the needed bodily activity, relaxation and the deliciously satisfying rest that comes with recreation. Then there is something else that it induces, something that the sedentary as a rule do not have: slender hips and a flat back. If you happen to doubt this, consider the figure of any typical belle of your acquaintance.

Of course, there are dancers and dancers. There are people who abandon themselves completely to the music and derive the fullest possible joy and benefit from their dancing. But then, alas, there are the many, many others who clutch their partners and go stumbling about the floors in an agony of self-consciousness. They get neither exercise nor fun.

Perhaps the best remedy for tense and joyless dancing is practice. That failing, the only other thing to do is to put one's self in the hands of an able instructor and really learn this delicate art, from the ground up, so to speak. Then with self-confidence should come poise, freedom, grace and genuine pleasure.

Much that is shoddy and more that is silly goes under the head of "classical dancing." Scarcely draped grannies running to embonpoint and striving frantically to caper and leap away from it—in the "ancient Greek" manner. Young disciples of the dance with "soul" cults. But in spite of all the wholesale abuses of a fundamentally fine thing, we say, go in for something besides ballroom dancing. If you possibly can.

Join a class in folk dancing, or even the so-called "classical," and leap and caper to music. But if you want to get the beautiful, beautiful best out of it, forget about the cults connected with it. We are not speaking to the ambitious now. We are merely to people like yourself who need exercise and who wish it to be something besides drudgery.

The Farmer's Advice

By Alfalfa Smith

RE you impatient? If you are, permit me to ask you this question: Have you ever eaten 365 dinners all at once?

I think you will agree with me that it took 365 days, or one year, to eat the number of dinners. In fact you do not want to eat that many all at once.

Again let me ask: Have you any desire to see a motion picture all at once? Would you rather see it UNFOLDED?

Ah, dear reader, so it is with life—unfolds.

If you are worrying, fussing and stewing about something, be patient—W.A.I.T.—and you will see it unfold just like a motion picture, and then you will wonder how you could have wasted so much time worrying about it.

All is well. Why be impatient and burden yourself with a lot of worry?

A Tip for Mother

AS your little two-year-old ever said "No" or "I won't" when told to do a thing? Did you think it sounded "so cute" and let it go at that instead of correcting her and setting obedience to your command? If so, there is where you made your first mistake.

When you request your child to do a thing that you forbid him to do anything that you always consistently insist upon compliance with your requests and obedience to your demands? Are your requests and commands always reasonable and well considered before you make them?

If your reply is in the negative you are losing the requisite strong hold upon your boy or girl, and how do you expect to safely guide and help him or her through the dangerous period of adolescence?

It is worth while thinking this over.

Petaled Collar

"NEITHER wind, nor rain, nor sleet," (or whatever that lousy description of the troubles of the mail man is) should damp the lady who wants to be flowerlike all the time.

So far as a touch of spring is concerned, she can add it to her dark outdoor frock. One of the most delightful pieces of neckwear noted is one of petals in ivory crepe. They follow a simple round neckline and spring from a pair of trim cuffs also. They are dainty as can be, and should be one of those simple and effective additions to everyone's fall wardrobe.

VIRGINIA BRUCE TELLS CARE OF TEETH

1. Two brushes, alternated daily, are essential in the correct care of the teeth. While one is in use it is an essential plan to run the other brush on a window sill with some salt spread on the bristles.

2. Salt makes a splendid dentifrice as it possesses antiseptic qualities. Frequent use of salt hardens the gums and leaves the mouth with a tingling, clean sensation.

3. When brushing the teeth it is best to use an up and down motion and to run the brush well over the gums, stimulating their circulation. The teeth should be brushed at least twice daily—in the morning and at night.

4. Teeth are a good friend of the body, as it is brittle and hard. Too many soft foods weaken the teeth. Do not be afraid to make the teeth do the work they were designed for. The more the teeth work the stronger they become.

W. C. T. U. Group Visits Hospital

Members of the Richmond chapter of the W. C. T. U. drove to Martinez Sunday where they visited the county hospital. Fruits, flowers, magazines and jellies were distributed to the inmates. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Anderson, Mrs. Mary Shonemaker, Mrs. Fannie Jackson, and Mrs. Harriet Burnham.

A novel fabric of striking pattern is employed in the smart three-piece frock worn by Mrs. MacCulloch Miller on Long Island.

The coat which is collarless, is lined with plain crepe that matches the accompanying blouse in tone. Breaking the severity of the tailored lines which characterize the coat and skirt are the amusing little bows that trim the waist.

These feminine details appear at the V-shaped neck and front of the blouse, holding it snugly over the hips.

For accessories Mrs. Miller has chosen a softly draped high-crowned hat, two strands of large pearls, light chambray slip-on gloves, with stockings and low-heeled sports oxfords.

Mrs. Miller spends the greater part of her time at Wheatly Hills on the beautiful estate of her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney.

Executive Board Of Federated Clubs Meets

The second executive board meeting of the California Federation of Women's Clubs for the fiscal year 1929-30 convened Saturday in Sacramento at the club home of the Tuesday club on "L" street. The session called together representatives from all parts of the state.

Mrs. Wilton W. Slayden, of Los Angeles, state president, presided. She rendered a detailed and interesting report of her itinerary throughout the northern and the San Francisco districts, where she contacted the large city clubs and remote country clubs including clubs in Humboldt, Del Norte, Mendocino and Lake counties. She described the Redwood Grove in Humboldt county which the Federation is negotiating to purchase as very beautiful. At Eureka she was presented with a gavel made of redwood beryl, as a gift of Humboldt county Federation.

Appropriately following the account of Mrs. Slayden's tour in the north was the report of Mrs. C. E. Parsons of Nevada City on "Conservation." She discussed three bills for the earnest consideration of the board. The Shipstead Newton bill, Quachita bill, Eagleheart bill, the latter deals with a more adequate fire protection for forests.

Mrs. A. E. Colet, of Sacramento, reported for the trustees in the absence of Miss Gulbreath, chairman of board of trustees. Mrs. George W. Turner, of Fresno, state chairman of Federation extension, announced the admission of four new clubs. Tarzana club, Women's Canadian club, Slayden club, all of Los Angeles district, and Garberville Civic Club of San Francisco district.

A report of the reorganization council was rendered by Mrs. Otto J. Mounsey, of Sonoma, chairman. She announced the next meeting of the council to be Jan. 24 at Santa Ana.

Mrs. Aaron Schloss of Berkeley, past state president in 1928-29, was introduced and welcomed as a guest of the board.

Dr. Olive H. Corbin of San Diego, outlined a public health program, emphasizing a campaign against rodents, as pernicious carriers of disease; also a closer co-operation between the home and school for cleanliness.

School nurse, says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and it works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every child has this remarkable substance.

OLD SONGS TO FEATURE NEW TALKIEOld airs for new—airs that are old but not forgotten!

That indeed is the musical line-up in a number of sequences of Lenore Ulric's first talking picture "Frozen Justice" which is to be the feature attraction at the Fox-California theater today and tomorrow. And in these days of pictures built around jazz band leaders and their sax-tootin' ilk, it's a surprising, welcome change we maintain.

More than 20 old time ballads of the "barroom variety" are caught by the microphones, including many pieces of 20 or more years ago which have been to a large degree incorporated among the folk-songs of the nation. Among these are:

"Sweet Genevieve," "It's Not What You Used to Be, It's What You Are Today," "Harigan, That's Me," "Little Brown Jug," "Shoo Fly, Don't Bother Me," "Over the Waves," "Asleep in the Deep," "Strike Up the Band, Here Comes a Sailor," "Roses Bring Dreams of You," "She's More to Be Pitied Than Censured," "My Gal is a High Horn Lady," "Don't Break the News to Mother," "Just a Bird in a Gilded Cage," "She May Have Seen Better Days," "Take Back Your Gold," "Ta-Ra-Ra, Boom-De-Ay," "After the Ball is Over," "Goodbye, Dolly," "Under the Bamboo Tree," and "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

Shades of brown robes, leg o' lamb steaks, high bicycles and mustache cups! The colorful spirit of the Mauve Decade is brought back again! The period is the end of the nineteenth century and includes the "dreadful" Yuletide old rush.

Another note of interest: Geo. MacFarlane, concert baritone under contract to Fox Films since "Just a Pleasure," turned to the "Wall." But all the music doesn't date back to the Spanish war. Oh no! Lenore Ulric, who has the role of a half-caste songstress in a Yukon cafe sings a "Right Kind of Man," which was written by Wolfe Gilbert and Abel Baer, noted song writing team.

The surrounding cast of "Frozen Justice," which concerns the conflicting emotional desires of an Arctic half-caste belle, is headed by such favorites as Louis Wolheim, Robert Frazer, Ulric, Warren, Laake Winter, El Brendel, Warren Hymer, Gertrude Astor, Alice Lake, Adele Windsor, C. J. Udele, Arthur Stone, Tom Patricola, Noynen Farrell and Joe Rochay.

Allan Dwan directed this all talking Fox Movietone special and Owen Davis is responsible for the dialogue from an adaptation by Sonya Levien of Hajnar Mikko's novel.

On the same bill will be a talking comedy, "Zip Boom Bang."

Lincoln Death
Chair Returned
By Government

WASHINGTON—The chair in which Abraham Lincoln sat when he was murdered by Wilkes Booth on the night of April 4, 1865, has been returned to the 74-year-old widow of Harry Clay Ford.

It had been customary for Mr. Ford to offer the use of his rocking chair to Lincoln whenever he attended Ford's theater. It was not part of the property of the theater but when the War Department in 1902 bought all the theater furnishings the chair somehow became included.

For 27 years it remained in a storeroom of the Smithsonian Institution, never having been displayed. Now it is insured for $10,000.

FAMOUS GOLD MINE FOUND

PORT ORFORD, ORE., Oct. 14 (AP)—Considerable excitement has been caused here by the belief that the "Lost China" mine on the Sixes river has been found.

The story of "Lost China" runs back 75 years to the days when Capt. William Tichenor, early-day sea captain, founded this little southern Oregon town.

Capt. Tichenor did considerable prospecting in the early days. He is said to have taken out some $50,000 worth of gold from the mine.

Chinese laborers and Indians figured in subsequent prospecting and obliterated the future, while white men searched other gold fields. Then a fire swept over the country, changing the aspect of the terrain, and the "Lost China" became something of a legend.

A new discovery of the mine has been reported by S. A. Laurence, local attorney to F. B. Tichenor, deputy United States marshal during the World War and grandson of the old sea captain. Tichenor, now living in Portland, believes the mine has been found.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—UP—Judge Frank J. Coleman today sheared five years from the 15-year sentence imposed on Charles Delos Waggoner, Colorado banker, for using the mails to defraud a group of powerful New York banks of $500,000.

Judge Coleman had indicated previously, and said again today, that he thought a total of five years' actual imprisonment would be just punishment for the little Telluride financier. He said he planned in five years to recommend a parole.

Soil Expert In
Address To C. C.
County Farmers

The maintenance of soil fertility for deciduous orchard trees was ably discussed by Warren Schoonover, citrus specialist of the agricultural extension service of the University of California at a field meeting held at the L. J. Clegg farm near Brentwood.

The most economical way of maintaining a food supply available to the trees in the plot observed, according to Schoonover, is by consistent cover cropping. A number of examples, both in field tests and laboratory tests, were cited to show how valuable cover crops are in building up soils. Where a quick stimulus is desired it was recommended that this could be obtained from the application of 1-2 pound of nitrate per tree.

A large group of orchardists were in attendance and many declared that this was one of the most valuable field meetings ever held in their district.

DEATH HALTS 4 MARRIAGES

BIRMINGHAM, ENG. — Death has four times thwarted Miss Madge Gunner, a governess in this city, of becoming a wife.

After the death of her fourth fiancé, just two days before the wedding day, Miss Gunner forever renounced the idea of marriage. This succession of love tragedies started during the war when Miss Gunner became engaged to a young officer. On the night he was to have left the front line trenches to come home to her, he was killed by a rifle grenade.

"My next fiancé," Miss Gunner said in an interview, "was an airman. He was killed in a crash on the Saturday before the Monday on which we were to have been married."

"Four years later I became engaged to an engineer. Two days before our wedding we had lunch together. He left me at the end of the meal to inspect a building under construction. He was killed by a crane."

Additional sorrows have come into Miss Gunner's life during the past year. Her father and mother, both in Australia, died without her having seen them for years. Her only brother was recently drowned at sea.

No "Instruments of the Devil" Now! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

With the introduction of machinery man-power feared it was to be supplanted. By the force of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE this ancient prejudice disappeared. Our modern "machine age" brings happiness and prosperity.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

SPORTS

BEARS PREPARE FOR TROJAN CONTEST

BERKELEY, Oct. 28.—Coach "Nibs" Price and his Golden Bear football varsity today swung into the final period of preparation at Berkeley for next Saturday's clash with Southern California at Los Angeles Coliseum.

Three days of intensive, driving, drill remain after today, and then the Bears entrain for the southland to face their second out-of-town opponent in as many weeks. The University of California squad, at least 45 men strong, will leave Berkeley Thursday evening at 8:15 o'clock on the "Padre," arriving the next morning at Glendale station, and going directly to the Hotel Huntington, Pasadena, which will be the Bears' headquarters for the short workout Friday afternoon, probably at the Coliseum, will serve to put the finishing touches on the Bear team that has been slowly evolving through various tribulations and trials to prepare to meet the Trojans of U. S. C.

Big Game
California's showing against the Pennsylvania squad a little over a week ago, more impressive than the 12 to 7 score indicated, has put a new complexion on the little matter the Bears and the Trojans have to discuss in the Coliseum next Saturday. The game has occupied the almost undivided attention of the California coaches and players since the Quaker encounter and, while the Berkeley team is generally rated as the underdog, Price is fairly well satisfied that his men will be ready for the game.

One factor that favors the Bears is, oddly enough, the same sort of factor by which U. S. C. is expected to profit. For both teams of the coming game, is the second major battle in a brief period of time. The Trojans could expect to take a certain amount of hammering in their clash with Stanford last Saturday at Palo Alto. The Bears' troubles, 3,000 miles to Philadelphia, and 3,000 miles back again after a hard game and, in less than two weeks, are to set out on a relatively shorter jaunt of 500 or so miles to meet the Trojans. Almost a week of travel in mid-season doesn't help football teams to perform to the best of their ability.

Nears Climax
Interest in the game is attested by the fact that the Coliseum was practically "sold" out last week when the Bears returned to Berkeley. The 1929 football season is slowly but inevitably drawing to its climax, and Saturday's meeting looms as one of the outstanding gridiron classics to be staged that day in the United States.

According to all indications, Price's men will present a considerably augmented style of attack. The first spring eleven that met the Quakers started with surprising suddenness, to prepare for the Los Angeles encounter immediately after their home coming by rehearsing new plays and engaging in scrimmages unequalled all season for strenuousness.

The Trojan-California squabble is likely to develop into a battle between two powerful lines, and spectators in the Coliseum Saturday can reasonably expect to see line play of a calibre not often seen in these parts.

Bears Lauded
The Pennsylvania game uncovered some California line men of hitherto unsuspected, or at least unrecognized, worth. Bert Schwartz turned in a game that placed him among the country's leading guards in the estimation of critics. Captain Roy Riegels at center played brilliantly and Joe Pitto, a guard who was labeled "second string material" in the early season, has come from behind in remarkable fashion.

If California and U. S. C. both report to the opening game, the giant ends of both teams should furnish plenty of color for the contest. Rens Avery, the six-foot-two, 205-pounder should have an interesting afternoon with Francis Tapan of U. S. C. and Bob Norton, line-fighter, Bear wingman, will face either Tony Stephos or Garrett Arbuckle.

In the backfield, Les Egan, slippery little safety man and quarterback will match wits with Russ Saunders, key man of the Trojan offense and leading southern candidate for All-American honors. Egan team with California's leading threat at halfback, with Ed Griffiths in all probability, as his running mate.

Ten Football Teams Fight For Title

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—UP—As the football season approaches the half way mark the championship situation is becoming clarified and tonight ten teams stand out in bold relief. Dartmouth and Pitt in the east, Notre Dame, Purdue and Minnesota in the middlewest, Missouri and Nebraska in the Missouri Valley, Tulane and Tennessee in the south and Southern California in the Pacific coast have established themselves as the nation's leading collegiate eleven.

That these teams will maintain their ranking throughout the balance of this season of surprising upsets is unlikely and the prospect of establishing definitely a 1929 national champion is remote. Many defeated teams have shown real ability and any or all of the present leaders quite conceivably may strike an off day against an inspired opponent which will result in their downfall.

Troy Lauded
Dartmouth, led by its great quarterback, Marsters, looks like one of the really great teams of recent years. Saturday they will face Albion Booth and his Yale teammates and, if the Blue can rise to the heights shown against the Army, Dartmouth's record may be marred.

Pittsburgh has played only two first class opponents—Nebraska and West Virginia—but has put up impressive scores in all its games to date. Saturday's game with Ohio State will go far in clinching Pitt's claim to ranking as an outstanding team.

South Strong
Southern California's victory over Stanford stamped the Trojans as the greatest football team the coast has seen since California's "Wonder Team" of 1923. Coach Howard Jones' vision and national championship honors Saturday's game with California will definitely decide the coast race while the Nov. 16 battle with Notre Dame may have an important bearing on national honors.

The south has more than its share of strong teams but Tulane and Tennessee appear to be the class of the lot. Notre Dame disappointed its followers in being held to a 7 to 0 verdict by Carnegie Tech last week, but is entitled to considerable credit for its performance. The Irish apparently were suffering a let-down after consecutive hard games with Indiana, the Navy and Wisconsin.

Purdue and Minnesota are the only undefeated and untied teams in the Western conference. Unfortunately these teams do not play each other and neither plays the other undefeated conference eleven, Ohio and Illinois, which have only a tie to mar their record.

Jernigan Meets Beasley Friday At El Cerrito

When Ted Jernigan and Jack Beasley clash Friday night in the ring at the El Cerrito Athletic club local fight fans will see in action two well known heavyweights who usually furnish plenty of excitement.

Jernigan has a good record in the bay district. He once knocked out Red Snyder of Vallejo, former holder of the heavy-weight championship in the navy division. Jernigan was twice floored by Snyder, but he completely reversed the aspect of the fight by knocking Snyder out. Jernigan once fought Beasley at six-ounce bout in the Oakland auditorium.

CONNIE GAVE HIM ONE OF HIS FAMOUS SCORE CARDS THE VERY ONE HE TALKED ABOUT SO FRANTICALLY DURING A BATTLE.

WALKER, AGE 24, READY FOR BATTLE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 28.—(UP)—Barred three times in his effort to wear a championship crown, Ace Hudkins will take his fourth shot at a title Tuesday night at Wrigley field when he attempts to overthrow Mickey Walker, the Nebraska king of the middleweights.

Just what will happen when the Nebraska wildcat and the toy bulldog from the eastern seaboard meet in the ball park for their 10-round encounter was a matter for conjecture tonight.

Ace claimed that he was "in the pink," and feared nothing the champion had to offer.

Mickey Sure
Mickey was equally sure that Hudkins was no serious threat, but said he expected a hard battle before Hudkins admitted defeat.

The fans of southern California and handlars from other sections of the country, appeared to be undecided. Betting odds were mostly even, but here and there a wager popped up in which Walker was 10 to 9 or 10 to 8 favorite.

Paper advantage appeared to rest with the champion in every respect except that of age. Hudkins is but 24 years old, while Walker admits 28 summers—quite a few as far as prize fighters go.

Long Reach
The Ace has a 71-inch reach, but in his numerous battles has never stood back to spar, so Walker should not notice and discomfort in this department. The champion's reach is 67 inches. In all other measurements Mickey is bulkier than the Nebraska.

The boxers were weighed unofficially today—Hudkins at 125 and Walker at 124.5. Hudkins' trainer, Joe Dundee, showed up when I was at Wrigley field two years ago to fight him for the welterweight title, and I think I beat Walker in Chicago.

Jack Doyle, promoter of the fight, said that the ticket sale to night was slightly over $100,000. Doyle hopes for a gate twice that figure and said he believed late sales will swell the total to the desired amount.

There will be four six-round preliminaries. Frankie Campbell, Oakland heavyweight, and Ed Herking, San Francisco, appear to be the main attraction of the supporting card.

Walker took the champion's privilege today and remained in seclusion. His manager, Jack Kearns, while Hudkins was frequenting the haunts of fellow pugilists, was following the supporting card.

HIGH GRIDDERS ACADEMY MEET HERE TONIGHT

Richmond Union high school will send its gridders across the bay tonight to meet the San Rafael Military Academy.

The Richmondites are fairly confident of their ability to defeat the San Rafaelites, Richmond bases this confidence on the record of defeats that have been administered by Richmond to the trans-bay gridders in 10 seasons.

The team's uniforms will be colorful to say the least. Their uppers will be yellow, with a big black numeral on the back. The lowers will be black with two yellow stripes around the bottom.

Sweatshirts will be a dead black with the name of the team's sponsor written across the back in yellow letters.

Cecil has signed up an aggregation of veteran cagers who almost but not quite, won the B league championship last year.

The lineup will include Henry Page forward; Walter Correll, forward; Edwin Marcus, forward; Ogden Arnold, center; Jack O'Connor, center and guard; Joe Oishi, standing guard; George Weeks, running guard and Leo Saseone, guard.

The Lutheran Five loses to team from San Pablo

The Lutheran Basketball team was defeated 10 to 6 by the San Pablo Baptists last night at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The score was close in the last quarter, when the San Pablos suddenly sprang ahead.

The starting lineup for San Pablo was: G. Serrina, C. Serrina, forwards; Vierra, center; DeCort, running guard; Mottosa, standing guard; Vanders, substitute.

The starting lineup for the Lutherans was: G. Serrina, C. Serrina, forwards; Vierra, center; DeCort, running guard; Mottosa, standing guard; Vanders, substitute.

The Lutherans will meet the Community Methodist basketball squad Monday at 7 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

Local Boys Aid Gaels To Win

Cal Pitchford and Adam Weisgerber, both local boys, played a prominent part in the grid contest between St. Mary's college and St. Ignatius Sunday at Kezar stadium in San Francisco.

The game ended 9 to 6 in favor of the Gaels. The lone score of the game was made in the third period, by George Ackermann, Gael tackle, who intercepted a pass and ran 80 yards for the touchdown.

The result of the contest was in doubt until the final whistle brought an end to one of the fiercest games ever witnessed in the Kezar stadium. In spite of the forecast by the critics that St. Ignatius would be snowed under by a large score, the plucky Gaels throughout the game maintained the throng of 10,000 people in a constant uproar.

Pitchford and Weisgerber are first string men on the Gael squad. Pitchford is a fullback, and Weisgerber occupies the position of guard. Both these men formerly starred on the Richmond team.

gold fields, held by his earlier charge that he had been framed by Miss Pringle and that she was a tool in the hands of others who wished to obtain part of the more than $20,000,000 he obtained through the sale of his cheaters.

Girl Visits Fitts
Another visitor to the hall of justice today was Miss Pringle, a university coed who gave up her school for a career and charged that Pantages lured her to his secluded consultation room, ostensibly to discuss booking her act, and then consummated an attack. The girl was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Lou Irene Pringle, and her father, Dr. Lewis Pringle, when she arrived at the hall, attorney Byron Fitts' office.

Mrs. Marjorie Fairchild, the police woman who guarded the dancer throughout the trial, was relieved of her charge.

"I was worried when the jury stayed out so long," Miss Pringle said, "but I never lost confidence that they would find him guilty. I wasn't thinking of myself, but I wanted justice done."

Provides Clings
Pantages was placed in a cell next to Rush Meadows, former college athlete, convicted of fraud, and Hyman Cohen, convicted drug peddler. The multimillionaire spent part of the morning in their cell, all three smoking fat cigars provided by the new arrival.

"It was a raw deal when a woman can frame a man like that," Pantages said. "I didn't have a chance with that jury, but I'm not through fighting yet. I have instructed my lawyers to carry the case to the highest court."

The blow of the conviction complicated the condition of Mrs. Pantages, who has been suffering from nervous collapse and bronchitis.

Mrs. Pantages Ill
Dr. Leland S. Chapman, her personal physician, said that she "is a very ill woman," but denied reports that her life is in danger.

Mrs. Pantages learned of the verdict Sunday night and it made her condition at this time much worse.

The Pantages home may not be both mother and father, as it is possible that Mrs. Pantages will be granted probation when she appears for sentence a week from Friday.

It was learned today that Pantages was convicted on the eighth ballot when Mrs. Christina O. Ulrich, housewife, yielded.

How They Voted
On the first ballot eight voted guilty, three not guilty and one abstained. The three were Mrs. Ulrich, Mrs. William Ingels and Mrs. Lotta G. Steiner. The second and third ballots were 9 to 3, the fourth and fifth 10 to 2, Mrs. Ingels changing. On the sixth 10 voted guilty, with leniency and two for acquittal. The seventh was eleven guilty with leniency and one not guilty. Then, after another hearing, evidence reread, Mrs. Ulrich and all 12 voted guilty with recommendation of leniency.

After the verdict was returned Mrs. Ulrich insisted the word was "leniency" and not "eleven," but Foreman Frank E. Evans said "eleven" as read by him, had been agreed upon.

1 to 50 Year Term
The jury, which had the case for 83 hours made a sentence of from one to 50 years mandatory by their penitentiary recommendation. Superior Judge Chas. Fricke will pass sentence Friday. The white parole board will set the exact length of the sentence at the end of one year.

It was revealed that Mrs. Hazel Brown, jury matron, and Harry O. Moulton, dramatically reenacted portions of the alleged attack scene in the jury room.

"I am a trained nurse and I cannot believe that all Miss Pringle described really happened, but I am convinced that the act was attempted by Mr. Pantages. It was my understanding that leniency would be recommended," Mrs. Ulrich declared.

In California, however, the court can only pass the mandatory sentence. The minimum, up to 50 years, will be determined by the parole board.

Fire In Hills Fanned By 50 Mile Gale

A small residence fire, which broke out at Eighty-sixth avenue and G street had to be covered by apparatus from the Oakland city hall, nearly ten miles away.

In addition to the fire on the Sequoyah club grounds, a large estate known as Durant Park was half burned over and the residence section, Broadmoor, a part of the city of San Leandro, was saved only by quick backfiring.

The fire menaced the California National Guard rifle range, necessitating the loosening of 55 horses of the artillery batteries. The horses were turned out into a big pasture as the flames swept toward the stables.

It was reported in some instances that blazing brands were picked up by the wind and carried as far as two and three miles, and soot was blown as far as ten miles from the fire.

A $20,000 loss was reported from the Santa Cruz Mountains, where four buildings of the Senator Quicksilver mine were destroyed.

Twenty employees of the mine narrowly escaped being trapped by the fire which razed the buildings. The fire was believed to have started from a brush blaze which got out of control.

In San Mateo county, particularly around the Half Moon bay region, practically the entire population of the town was engaged in fighting a fire which destroyed several ranch buildings and for a time threatened residences in Half Moon Bay.

Very few injuries were reported from the fire fighters. None of those reported being serious.

El Cerrito Asks Key To Improve Car Track Paving

City Attorney J. H. Peters reported to the council of El Cerrito at its meeting Monday night that he had received a letter from the Key System stating that its engineer, H. P. Bill would arrange a meeting regarding the paving of the roadway between the tracks on San Pablo avenue, but had received no further information.

The council instructed Peters to get in touch with Bill and see if some immediate action could not be obtained on the paving.

Notification from the American Indemnity Co., of the extension of the $10,000 bond of the California Construction Co., for the guarantee of repair work in the Berkeley Country Club Terrace tract to Jan. 8, 1930, was placed on file.

The renewal of 28 soft drink permits for the quarter starting October was granted.

On the recommendation of police commissioner J. R. Beck, the council gave permission to police judge J. F. Plank to hire a court stenographer when the police judge and city attorney thought it necessary.

BILLIONS LOST IN NEW BREAK ON NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

company opposite the Stock Exchange.

That move provoked banking support and the Bears were intimidated.

In a few moments buying orders were placed for steel. Morgan brokers were reported working on the buying side. Steel shot up to 198 and other pivotal shares had similar comebacks.

When it looked as if the list would recover, Thomas W. Lamont told newspapermen that the bankers would issue no statement; that none was necessary.

Steel Hit
This apparently was all the Bears wanted. They resumed their operations on a scale seldom witnessed. In a few minutes steel was back to 193 and then it broke further, getting well below 190. It closed at 186, off 17 1/2 points for the day, a loss in market value of all shares outstanding of more than $136,000,000 more.

From that time on to the close, the Bulls never had a single moment they could call their own. Stock after stock was depressed until the whole market structure was on the verge of collapse, and then the gong brought the day to a close.

Over the curb scenes as wild as those on the Stock Exchange were being enacted. Wild scrambling to sell ruled through the day and many melted as a result.

Cities Service was carried below the previous resistance level to a new low for the present, stock in tremendous turnover.

Chicago Graph
Commodity markets also felt the effect of the break and even bonds were under mild pressure. Cotton closed 10 to 15 points lower in orderly retreat. Wheat opened strong and ruled strong for a time due to promised help by the federal farm board. Then it sagged to close with gains of two cents a bushel.

Coffee futures broke to new lows and closed sharply lower. The coffee market at Rio de Janeiro closed its doors.

Break Reasons
Reasons for this nervous unsettlement in the various markets were not hard to find when Common was next in point of volume, and then followed Montclair, and then followed Montclair, and then followed Montclair.

Prof. Fisher said that actually stock market prices were too low at present levels. He estimated the total prices of some stocks to be only ten times more than annual earnings.

Market Too Low
He explained that the terrific breaks in prices of the last few days were due to forced liquidation—the closing out of brokerage accounts of small speculators who were unable to deposit sufficient "margin" to protect the stocks they held.

"Today's heavy selling," Prof. Fisher said, "was a continuation of last week's, indicating that the forced selling had not been completed. Many weak accounts with inadequate margin have been cleared out."

"I believe the market is too low, but there are so many weak margin accounts that the only way out is to complete the liquidation."

Bargain Counter
Whether the liquidation is completed today or in the near future, the market will be a bargain counter for people with purchasing power."

Prof. Fisher expressed surprise at today's weakness and said he was optimistic regarding business generally.

"The whole affair is a brain-storm in the market itself," he said. "It was brought about by the expectation of unprecedented earnings in various companies. So many went into debt to share in this prosperity that the credit situation was put in a very vulnerable position."

El Cerrito To Study Lights For San Pablo

presented that their systems would be more effective and less expensive than the General Electric and the council should have an opportunity of comparing the different equipment before deciding on the specifications.

Mayor Ernest O'Brien suggested that the engineers of the General Electric and Westinghouse companies be allowed to present their own systems for comparison. O'Brien also stated that he would not be in favor of any lightning that the city had to pay all of maintenance costs as it would bankrupt the city.

Light Commissioner Peter Larson replied that the different systems had been compared and that the General Electric was the best for the money but he was satisfied to have action laid over for one week for further investigation.

Councilman J. R. Beck said that he thought the city should pay the maintenance as the money received from traffic violations on San Pablo avenue would, more than offset that paid for the lighting system.

A majority of owners of improved property on San Pablo avenue oppose the lighting system, Beck stated that he would vote against the system.

Street Paving Work Finished

City engineer E. A. Hoffman filed notice of completion of the work of the California Construction company of the improvement of Lincoln avenue, and portions of Twenty-fourth, Twenty-sixth, and Twenty-eighth streets, with the city council last night.

Protect Your Furniture

A $1.95 to Bid Your Home of Moths May Save You Hundreds of Dollars.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.

OPEN BIDS FOR S.F. BRIDGE BORINGS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28—Directors of the Golden Gate bridge and highway district today opened bids for the diamond drill borings to determine the foundation for the proposed Golden Gate bridge.

Two bids were presented, one by the E. I. Longyear company of Minneapolis for $29,940, while the Healy Tibbets company of San Francisco presented a bid of $79,200. Nathan Straus, bridge engineer, estimated that the work would cost about $50,000.

Borings will be made over a width of three-fourths of a mile on a line between Fort Point and Lime Point, and will require the sinking of caissons on land on both sides of the Gate and in the unknown bed of the channel between the two points.

Bids will be considered and the contract let at a meeting to be held in the city hall on Nov. 6. The successful bidders must start the work of boring within 70 days of acceptance of the bid.

FIRST CASES AT NEW HOSPITAL

Two babies were born in the new hospital in Richmond yesterday. The first, a boy, was born in the morning to Mrs. P. C. Mortenson, 612 Fortieth street, Richmond. This child, according to L. F. Bollinger, head of the new hospital corporation, was "free."

First operations in the new hospital were performed on Miss Amorette Hoerli, who had her tonsils removed, and Mrs. Mildred Essick of Albany for appendicitis. The operations were performed by Dr. U. S. Abbott, assisted by Dr. L. A. Hedges and Dr. Carpenter.

According to Bollinger, the opening for business was made earlier than anticipated because of several cases needing attention at the hospital. The formal opening will be made next month.

The first baby clinic will be held in the new building which will be held Tuesday by Mrs. Elizabeth Redmond.
